

BIKE WEEK IN MAZATLAN MEXICAN

When it became clear that we really would be attending and filming Semana Internacional De La Moto event I must admit we were excited, intrigued and a little apprehensive. Most of you have probably heard about the drug related violence that dominates the headlines south of the border so there were some concerns. When we arrived at the Mazatlan airport, with our crew and Michele Smith, we were met by an armed contingency with automatic weapons. However from that point forward we moved freely throughout the city without security and encountered no problems whatsoever. The event was obviously fully supported by both the citizens and the government. We went on a beautiful ride along the Pacific Ocean where we got a real flavor for the history of the city while we stopped and visited seaside vendors, cliff divers and saw statues of prominent Mazatlan icons. We ate and ate at the /The Shrimp Factory/ a local restaurant that catches the food in the morning and serves it that day, how do I know, simple they have no food refrigerators! The governor was kind enough to let us use his helicopter to film the city as well as the Mardi Gras type bike parade which featured everything on wheels, including dirt bike quads and sport bikes as well as a ton of Harleys. The bike show winner featured a chopper with Strip Club Choppers Wheels what are the odds REALLY, this was a great experience and we were treated like kings. If you ever get the chance check out Semana Internacional De La Moto , here is the web site.
